All News From Navies & Naval Industry

*Medium-altitude long-endurance (MALE) UAS like the MQ-9 Reaper and its maritime derivative, the MQ-9B SeaGuardian (pictured), have been shown to represent very viable systems for ISR, C4ISR and C4ISTAR roles. Programmes notably in Europe and in the Asia-Pacific region now coming on stream are addressing this approach, with the MQ-9B intended to operate together with manned assets in increasingly complex combat environments. Anti-submarine warfare is one aspect here. Naval Forces provides access to the latest procurement programmes and assesses key trends in procurement and deployment.
